

Talk about ...

April 11, 2004

Monday

- Exotic Particles and the Confinement of Quarks. IU physics professor Alex Dzierba will give the Distinguished Faculty Lecture at 3 p.m. in Indiana Memorial Union Whittenberger Auditorium.
- Investing in Letter Writing in Early America. Konstantin Dierks of the IU history department will speak 4-5:30 p.m. in IU's Lilly Library lounge.
- Hercules Unbound: The Politics of Antiquity in Modern Rural Greece. Susan Sutton of the IU anthropology department will speak at 4 p.m. in the IMU Sassafras Room.
- Implications of Lunar Evolution for that of Mars and the Earth. NASA scientist and astronaut Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt will speak at 4 p.m. in IU Fine Arts Auditorium FA015.
- Eroticism and Ideology in the Spanish Transition to Democracy. Jordi Mari of North Carolina State University will give a Horizons of Knowledge Lecture at 5:15 p.m. in IU's Ballantine Hall 004.
- Black Professionals: The Intersection of Race, Class and Gender, 1890-1930. Darlene Clark Hine, the John A. Hannah professor of history at Michigan State University, will give a Patten Lecture at 7:30 p.m. in IU's Myers Hall 130.

Tuesday

- The Public, Private and Unseen: Civil Society Institutions on Pemba during the Protectorate Period. Elisabeth McMahon of the IU history department will speak at noon in Woodburn Hall 218.
- Looking Beyond Flags: The 1940s in India. Indivar Kamtekar, professor of modern history at Jawaharlal Nehru University in New Delhi, India, will speak at 6 p.m. in Jordan Hall A100.
- Trip to the Moon and Beyond. NASA scientist and astronaut Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt will speak at 7:30 p.m. at the IMU Whittenberger Auditorium.
- Day of Silence Lecture. Debra Davis, a high school librarian who came out as a transgender woman at her school in Minneapolis, will speak at 7:30 p.m. in the Grand Hall of IU's Neal-Marshall Black Culture Center.

Wednesday

- Tibetan Publishing in the 1950s. Lauren Hartley of IU's department of Central Eurasian studies will speak noon-12:50 p.m. in IU's Goodbody Hall 107.
- Letters, Teachers and Gods: Education in Late Roman Alexandria. Edwards Watts of the IU history department will speak at 12:15 p.m. in the Special Exhibitions Gallery of the IU Art Museum.
- When — If Ever — Did John Wilkes Booth Eat in a Diner? Richard J.S. Gutman of Boston, a leading authority on the history of diners, will speak at 5 p.m. in the Lilly Library lounge.
- Market and Palace: The Two Faces of Asante Urban Tradition. Gracia Clark and Beverly Stoeltje of the IU anthropology department will speak 5:30-7:30 p.m. in IU's Woodburn Hall 218.

- Black Before Brown: Health, Education, Social Welfare Professionals 1930-1954. Darlene Clark Hine, the John A. Hannah professor of history at Michigan State University, will give a Patten Lecture at 7:30 p.m. in IU's Myers Hall 130.

Thursday

- Guatemala and Costa Rica: A Geologic Travelogue. J. Robert Dodd of Indiana University will speak at 12:20 p.m. in Geological Survey S201.
- Plant Development: Insights from Microarrays and MicroRNAs. Detlef Weigel, director of the department of molecular biology at Max Planck Institute in Tübingen, Germany, will give the Carlos O. Miller Lecture in Plant Molecular Biology 4-6:10 p.m. in Myers Hall 130.
- Religious and Islamic Studies in America. Seyyed Hossein Nasr of George Washington University, a former president of Aryamehr University in Iran, will give the Victor Danner Memorial Lecture in Islamic studies at 7:30 p.m. in IU's Woodburn Hall 101.

Friday

- China's Central Asia Problem: Defending Borders in a Globalizing World. Gardner Bovingdon of the IU Central Eurasian studies department will speak at noon in Ballantine Hall 004.
- Rod Serling's Television and Broadway Versions of 'Noon on Doomsday': The Possibilities of Constraints of Cultural Production in Different Media Industries. Jonathan Kraszewski of IU will speak at 4 p.m. in IU's Ashton-Mottier Hall 124.
- The First Cold War: Polish Espionage in Soviet Ukraine, 1928-1933. Timothy Snyder of Yale University will give a Horizons of Knowledge Lecture at 4 p.m. in IU's Ballantine Hall 005.
- Leaves of Grass. Jazz pianist and composer Fred Hersch will present music and words for Walt Whitman's work at 7:30 p.m. in IU Auer Hall.

This calendar runs Sundays only. To have your event listed it must be submitted in writing by Tuesday afternoon the week before the event. Send information to Talk About c/o Hoosier Times, P.O. Box 909, Bloomington, IN 47402. Fax (812) 331-4383. E-mail talkabout@heraldt.com.

© 1997 - 2004 Hoosiertimes Inc. No commercial reproduction without prior written consent.